We have spent the last year working to develop new products, some of which are detailed in this newsletter, and now that they are complete, we have made a few staff updates to better support you:

- Reggie Johnson, our former Chief Program Officer, is now our Chief of Strategic Partnerships.
- Lucy Berrier, previously on the Educators Rising team, will use her skills as our Relationship and Outreach Lead.
- Anne Matthews, our former Education Partnerships Manager, is now our Strategic Partnerships and Analysis Manager.

It is our hope that these changes will help us to better serve our members and continue to be resourceful in our hired expertise.

To share our work and new products, I have been busy traveling and speaking about our work. At the end of September, I was interviewed by Slate to discuss what school integration looks like. The interview can be found here. I was also featured on the podcast PodBean to discuss change and public opinion on education. On October 29, I will be part of a panel regarding the NYC Mayor's School Diversity Advisory Group recommendations; the event will be live-streamed and you can register to watch or attend the event here.
